CAREGIVING

STRESS & BURDEN CHILD

There were five interpretable factors resulting from a factor analysis: (a) time dependence burden, (b) developmental burden, (c) physical burden, (d) social burden, and (e) emotional burden.(2). It is a 24-item scale consisting of five-point responses. Scores range from 0 to 96. A higher score indicates a higher burden. (designed for cognitively impaired older adults, 10-15 min) It is designed to evaluate burden for dementia patients' caregivers. In different studies, care-receiver may refer to an impaired elder, spouse, and have been administered for family caregivers, community caregivers, and paid caregivers)
